

Dianne Williams transcript

Women's Programs

I've been involved in several women's programs both in the union and with the post office. I was on a diversity team, where on this particular diversity team we would address women's issues but they weren't the only issues we would address, we would address issues on the working floor because the postal service is kind of like a melting pot of different cultures and different personalities, so we would address issues of that nature.